Receipt of training to the agricultural worker According to Protection Standards (WPS)

Information to the employer: According to the Worker Protection Standards of the EPA it is required for employers to offer agricultural workers a complete training regarding the Safety Norms against pesticides, before the sixth day the worker enters an area where a Restricted Entrance Interval (REI) has been in effect during the past thirty (30) days.

The training must be offered in a way understood by the worker, and this signed form will serve as registration for that training.

I have received the pesticide safety training for agricultural workers, which included the following information:

- Where and how pesticides will be found during work activities.
- The dangers of pesticides resulting from toxicity and exposure, including grave effects, chronic effects, delayed effects and sensitivity.
- Ways through which the pesticides may enter the body.
- Signs and symptoms of common types of poisoning from pesticides.
- Emergency first aids for injuries or poisoning by pesticides.
- How to obtain emergency medical attention.
- Emergency and routine decontamination procedures, including techniques for washing eyes in emergencies.
- Dangers of pesticide propagation and current.
- Dangers of pesticides residues on clothes.
- Warning on the transportation to the house of pesticides or pesticide containers.
- An explanation of the WPS Norms created to protect workers, including restrictions of application and entry, design of warning signals, placement of warning signals, verbal warnings, availability of specific information regarding applications and protection against reprisals.

I received the training in a manner I was able to understand.
